

My attorney said that I need a license agreement. He was probably trying to extort more money from me. But nonetheless, I paid him and he wrote some legal mumbo jumbo called License Agreement for Photoshop® Actions. He also told me to tell you to read it and that if you don't agree with it, not to purchase my super cool, creative, and time saving actions.

After having read the License Agreement below, it should be clear that you may:

- Install the actions on a single computer;*
- Use the actions for your personal and/or commercial work;*

But you may not:

- Share, distribute, resell, etc. the actions to others;*
- Sparingly modify the actions and resell them;*
- Deconstruct the actions to create derivative competing products.*
